Dear MJBL Family,

I trust this correspondence finds you well. We are now experiencing uncharted territory with the on-going pandemic from the Coronavirus. As you are aware, that after the NBA suspended their season, most every professional and amateur sports organization has followed suite. MJBL is suspending program activities immediately to all of its league members. This applies to practices, games, clinics and any other potential team gatherings. MJBL makes this recommendation in accordance with your state's public health department guidance (click here for a listing of state public health departments), and other county and/or local authorities including area school districts and government agencies.

We are optimistic that the MJBL Inner City Classic will be held starting July 28th and that teams will be able to compete locally prior to the Classic. However, the safety and well-being of our players, coaches, their families and communities are of our highest priority. Stay safe and please take this novel Covid-19 virus seriously

Sincerely,

William Forrester, Jr.
